The Veteran Firemen's Association has a special meeting Friday night.
Cleveland Harvey has added a second car to his taxi stable and is giving complete service, year round.
Next week's vaudeville at Strand Theatre, and henceforth, will be presented on Wednesday and Thursday nights.

Charles Arthur Bond of Nova Scotia and Kathleen Sidney Walsh of Rockland have filed intentions of marriage.

The Rockland postoffice boasts a new clock, replacing the one which was a bit too prone to go on the wrong kind of a strike.

New enrollments at the Rockland Commercial College include Grace Pinkerton of Thomaston and Mrs. Lillian Joyce of Rockland.

King Solomon's Temple Chapter, R. A. M. installs officers tonight, and all sojourning Masons are invited. Lobster stew after the ceremony.

Mike Armata has sold a small building, which stood on the late David Smith property, to Theodore Fields, who will move it to his lot on Pine street.

Capt. Charles O. Cousins, U. S. inspector of hulls, the past 22 years, died at his home in Bangor Monday after a short illness. He had made many visits to this port.

The Hotel Phoenix Orchestra of Bath, led by George McLean, will play for a dance in Temple Hall Monday night. Free cigarette holders will be given to the men and dolls to the women.

Charles Anderson, the past five years chief engineer of the Coast Guard cutter Ossipee, is to be transferred to the cutter Tallapoosa at Mobile, Ala. Orders for the transfer, effective Feb. 1, were announced Tuesday.

The Baptist Quarterly Meeting was held in Rockport at the Baptist Church yesterday for an all-day and evening session. Rev. B. P. Browne delivering a sermon in the evening. There were several delegates from the Rockland church.

Paul H. Plumer of Union has been elected one of the Senior editors of the Argus, the bi-weekly undergraduate newspaper of Wesleyan University. Union's college boys have a fixed habit of winning honors in the higher educational institutions.

Why go South or West? when you will find a beautiful variety of Iris, Tulips, Cluster Daisies, Daffodils, etc. in the window of Eric's Giftshop at your choice, 2 sprays for 25 cents.—adv.

John O. Stevens of the Boston Furniture Co. attended the annual meeting of the Maine Atherton stores in Portland Wednesday and next week goes to the national furniture exhibition, an annual event, in New York.

The following will be on the Park Theatre stage Friday and Saturday of this week: Stanley and Alva, comedy on the wire; Brown and Birmingham, a clever comedy team; Alton and Fields, a musical treat; Billy Nash, blackface comedian; Moran and Labert, singing and dancing. Two shows Friday at 2 and 7:45; three shows Saturday at 2, 6 and 8:30.

Boston papers have recently announced the death of Beverly Rantoul, formerly of Salem, Mass., who made Rockland his home while the Rockland, Thomaston & Camden Street Railway was under construction. He was very popular here in social circles and will be recalled by some readers as one of the prominent participants in "Longfellow's Dream," staged by local talent.

Educational Club speakers Friday evening at Copper Kettle will be Prof. Herbert C. Libby, mayor of Waterville and Republican candidate for Governor; and St. Paul, St. Paul, St. Paul, head of the State Hospital here. Dr. Tyson will speak on "What to Do to Help Nervous Folks." The committees on membership drive are requested to meet at 6:30 and compare notes.

Bath Times: Friends of Col. William Tudor Gardiner and of the candidates for the Republican nomination for Governor in the June primaries, were greatly pleased to learn of the cordiality shown him on a recent tour through Washington County. Upon returning home from the Washington County tour, Gardiner found complete agnostation papers from the entire 16 counties of the State, and these will be filed with the secretary of state in due time.

The business and editorial rooms of The Courier-Gazette have been invaded the past fortnight by Henry Tominski, an experienced painter who has been restoring the cathedral finish to its pristine glory. He administered the finishing touches Tuesday, and everybody was sorry to have the genial artist depart. He accomplished wonders with the interior finish but it almost makes us homesick not to have any more paint pots to fall over.

A gift of gold and a great wealth of well wishes awaited Mrs. Burton Stevenson on her retirement from the office force of the Central Maine Power Co., where she has been an effective and popular employee for several years past. Mrs. Stevenson has been an active factor in the many company meetings and entertainments. Prior to entering the company's employ she won fame as Lucy Piper, leader and star of one of Rockport High School's great basketball teams.

At the lecture Monday evening, held under the auspices of the local W. C. T. U., "The Crusade Psalm" was read by Rev. John Dunstan; prayer was offered by Rev. B. P. Browne; Mrs. Rachel Browne sang as soloist the hymn, "The Thief O' Great All Father," words of which were written by the late Rev. Sylvester Oxtown, and the music by Cyril Barrie of Castine. The address by Mrs. Jeanette H. Mann has been reported. Tuesday forenoon Mrs. Mann addressed the student body of the High School for one period. She was pleased to note the interest and attention that the pupils gave her.

WHO'S YOUR FRIEND WITH THE "DYED" HAIR, MABEL?

Ain't It Awful And She Thinks Folks Don't Know It's Dyed

Once dyed a person's hair is a constant, ever increasing source of care and trouble—better by far to quit it as a rule than to mess and doctor it up all the time.

Hair dressers can usually wash it all off, clip it a little and then by a good massaging daily of hair roots and scalp with Lea's Hair Tonic the hair grows out rapidly and in more abundance and thanks to modern chemistry, it grows out a youthful color instead of a drab, lifeless, gray.

Found radio reception a bit freaky between the hours of 9 and 10 Tuesday night, but good entertainment was by no means lacking. Here are the stations I logged in that period: WLW, KYW, WOR, WITC, WEEI, WJZ, WBZ, WCV, WCX, WTAM, KDKA, WSAI, WIP and WRNY.

I was able to get the Boston Globe news bulletins almost without interruption Tuesday night, but it's a trick not easily accomplished. I also heard the Newark Evening News bulletins over WOR, which, all things considered, was about my best station that night.

Mrs. Irvin Gray of 6 Broad street says that on Jan. 5 she logged 53 stations between 7:30 p. m. and 12:30 a. m. on her Radiola 20, all of them coming in on a loud speaker. The list follows: WWRL, WKBW, WKBQ, WCGU, WCAU, WBBQ, WFCJ, WQAN, WOAK, WADC, WGBD, WIOD, WMBB, WBBR, WPG, WKAR, KDKA, WPCB, WRNY, WCAU, WBSA, WSAI, WBSM, WTAM, CFCF, WOR, WLW, NAA, WJR, WJZ, WNCN, WRC, WEA, WJZ, WGL, KMOX, WBAL, WAIU, WCAU, WDCB, WCVK, WSAI, WBSB, KFKB, WGN, KOIL, WWJ, WCFL, WENR and KFI.

John Leo, who has been spending a few days at home, left for Philadelphia this morning. After five years' service with the Luckenbach Steamship Co., three of which found him running to ports on the West Coast, Mr. Leo has been appointed assistant pier superintendent in Philadelphia, serving on the municipal pier which sports two 12-ton elevators and has a capacity for berthing four large steamships. This enviable position he won by careful devotion to the service, and the job is entirely to his liking.

Mrs. Lena B. Rokes, past president of Ruth Mayhew Tent, installed the following officers at a regular meeting of the Tent in G. A. R. hall Monday evening: President, Mary Cooper; S. V. P., Carrie House; J. V. P., Irene Winslow; chaplain, Emma Douglas; treasurer, Josephine Lothrop; patriotic instructor, Eliza Plummer; Council No. 1, Minnie Clark; No. 2, Lena Rokes; No. 3, Allie Blackington; secretary, Lizzie French; guide, Carrie Brown, guard, Helen Paladino; assistant guard, Mabel Bowley; color bearers, Mary Brewster, Allie Blackington, Ava Jackson and Lena B. Rokes; musician, Alta Dimick. A bounteous supper was served, with a goodly attendance. It was intended to serve refreshments after the meeting but in the general good time that followed they were actually forgotten until the sisters' Tent installed the hall. The Daughters are not only doing their patriotic work but are having a good time as well. In appreciation of the splendid manner that Mrs. Rokes did her work the Tent presented her with a dainty gift.

THE CEMENT PLANT

Last of the Large Buildings Completed — Night Crew Practically Disbanded.

The touch of winter, which this section has experienced the past week, did not serve to interrupt progress on the new plant of the Lawrence Portland Cement Company in Thomaston.

With the temperature standing at 4 degrees below zero cement for the clay storage building was hoisted into place, and the last large building in the plant was completed.

The night gang is now a thing of the past, except for a small number of men employed on a few minor jobs. The payroll which still carried 480 names last Saturday will soon show a decrease to 350 where it will remain for some time to come.

The steel workers moved to the kiln building Tuesday.

C. F. Bevier, who has been in charge of setting up the machinery, has returned to Buffalo. Upon the shoulders of Joe Taylor has fallen the task of looking after the remainder of the machinery.

The Northern Elmer Company has a crew at the plant installing the dust collecting systems.

The Porcette Roofing Company is installing the roof on the steel works. The gunite men are expected here the first of next week.

Several cedar trees growing on the lot of the late David Smith, corner Brewster and Cedar streets, have been stripped of their bark, leaving them dead and bare, and giving them a peculiar look. This was the work of squirrels, the bark being carried to the topmost branches of a tall spruce tree nearby, to make a nest. The foliage of the spruce is so thick at the top that the nest can hardly be discerned but it forms a snug shelter for the marauders.

Mrs. Anna Carlson, a Swedish woman of about 50, was found wandering on the streets Sunday night by Patrolman Stetson. With A. E. Brunberg acting as interpreter it was learned that she came here from Quincy, Mass., to keep house for John Dolin on a large farm in Rockland. She had lost her pocketbook and was without funds. The police were unable to locate John Dolin. She was provided with the amount of the fare, and sent back to her home.

David H. Buffum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Buffum of this city, who has been in the United States consular service at Danzig, Germany, for the past four years, has just been notified by the State Department that he has been transferred to the consulate at Leghorn, Italy. Mr. Buffum has displayed much efficiency in this work and the transfer is in the nature of a much deserved promotion. He has recently returned from Washington, D. C., where he has been in consultation with the department.

Mrs. Helen M. Clark of Broadway, who is district deputy president of the Rockland Rebekah Lodge, No. 1, is engaged in installing officers for the present week and next. Tuesday evening Mrs. Clark with Mrs. Rose Sawyer as Deputy Grand Marshal installed officers of the Maiden Cliff Lodge jointly with the Mt. Battie Lodge of Odd Fellows, the installing officers for which were Ernest Fales, deputy grand master, and John Stahl, marshal, both of Camden. Yesterday Mrs. Clark and Mrs. Sawyer went to Swan's Island where they installed the officers of Harbor View Rebekah Lodge. Tomorrow night they install the officers of Ocean Point Rebekah Lodge. Joint installation with Star of Hope Lodge of Odd Fellows, Mr. Fales and Mr. Stahl being the installing officers for the latter. Wednesday evening Jan. 25 Mrs. Clark and Mrs. Sawyer install the officers of Rockland Rebekah Lodge at Stonington. Mrs. Clark and Mrs. Sawyer have received many compliments for their efficient work, their ease and dignity, which make the installation exercises impressive and interesting.

MORE RIGID LAWS Are Necessary To Protect "King of Seafoods," Says Prof. Herrick.

His majesty the "king of seafoods," soon will become extinct unless more rigid laws are soon made to protect this crustacean, Dr. Frank H. Herrick, graduate professor of the Western Reserve University, believed to be the world's best authority on lobsters, made this startling disclosure to International News Service.

Dr. Herrick has studied the lobster from "every angle," he said, and his workbooks The Lobster and The Natural History of the Lobster are the best reference books on the animal, it is said.

"Our most heinous crime against the lobster," Dr. Herrick angrily emphasized, "is the taking of egg-bearing females. Lobsters don't hatch as chickens do; instead of being fairly certain that there will be a lobster for each egg laid, thousands of eggs have to be laid for every lobster."

"It has been proved that it takes 30,000 eggs to produce two lobsters, to have lobsters in abundance we must have millions of eggs. In spite of this the law sanctions the killing of the great source of eggs—the larger adult animals."

The larger the lobster the more eggs they will lay, Dr. Herrick disclosed after months of study. The nine-inch lobster will hatch 7,902 eggs while the 17-inch will average 77,430 eggs. It takes 10 months after the eggs are laid before they hatch. During that time, Dr. Herrick explained the egg is attached to the female's abdomen and she is exposed to the dangers of the ocean.

Despite the fact that the large lobsters are not good to eat, Dr. Herrick declared, they are the kind the fishermen, paid by the pound, are eager to catch and sell.

The Maine law permits fishermen to retain all lobsters over 10½ inches long, in other New England states and in Canada, the law approves all over nine inches. These laws must be changed if we want to be able to order "lobster on the half shell; lobster salad and other lobster delicacies," Dr. Herrick stated.

Between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000 annually is the value of Maine's lobster industry. It was said and nearly 25,000 people are dependent upon it.

TO USE WASTE LAND Farmers To "Grow" a House and Barn For Their Grandchildren.

Many acres of waste land will be set out this year to white pine in Knox and Lincoln counties. The extension service and Knox-Lincoln Farm Bureau under the direction of County Agent Wentworth, have just completed the annual planning meetings and as a result four communities are going to set out pine this coming spring. In Bunker Hill Alan Carter has an acre of waste land where he is going to try 1,000 white pines. In Damariscotta James Byrne is setting out 5,000 pine on old run out fields. Henry Keller of West Rockport is setting out 1,000 trees and Fred Sukeforth of Washington is continuing his planting of last year with 1,000 pines.

The trees are being ordered from the State Forestry Nursery, Orono, and the demonstrations will be held the last of April.

There are many acres of waste land throughout the county that could well be made to produce an income by setting to white pine or spruce. The demand in the future for pulp wood will be greater than the supply.

The source of lumber at the present time is on the west coast. When this is gone there is a real problem for the lumbermen of the county, unless some means is taken to replenish the supply.

Every farmer has some waste land which is not producing enough to pay the taxes. This land, if reforested, in 20 years will begin to be a source of income on the farm. Now is the time for every farmer or land owner to start growing a barn and house for his grandchildren.

In December according to statistics kept by City Clerk Keene there were six births and 24 deaths. Thus far in January there have been three births and 16 deaths. Increased population is not figured in that manner.

NORTH HAVEN

Harold Lobley has gone to Bangor for a few days.

Lloyd Crockett is spending a short vacation on the mainland.

H. P. Farrow returned Saturday from Rockland after a business absence of several days.

The fine warm weather came to a finish Saturday followed by snow and near zero temperature on Sunday.

Charles Bray returned Saturday from Boston.

The families of Mr. and Mrs. John Lermund and Mr. and Mrs. Walker Ames, Mrs. Emma Stone and son Irvin and Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Crabtree and son Roger Raymond met with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Stone recently for a dinner party. The well cooked dinner consisting of boiled ham, dandelion greens, etc., with cake and ice cream for dessert was served family style and much enjoyed. Later the guests attended evening services at the church.

Harold Young and Stephen Bray were quite severely burned by an explosion of gasoline on their boat Monday while on a gunning trip to the outer ledge. They are attended by Dr. Diefenbacher.

C. S. Staples was in Rockland Monday on business.

Mrs. Christine Burns is the guest of her mother Mrs. H. R. Crabtree for a few days, coming from Boston where she and Mr. Burns are located for the winter.

Apparently Mr. Simmons of Tenants Harbor is quite right in putting his new engine in the cellar where it won't be bothered with rheumatism this cold weather.

Mr. J. J. Young of Vinalhaven was in town Tuesday enroute to Rockland on business.

WARREN

Mrs. George W. Walker, Mrs. E. E. Jameson and Mrs. George E. Newbert entertained eight tables at bridge at the home of the latter Saturday evening, prizes falling to Mrs. Robert Chmura, Mrs. Edward Emerson and Mrs. Robert Walker.

Clement Moody Sr. is cutting logs for the C. E. Overlook mill.

Mrs. Sidney Wyllie has a new Atwater-Kent electric radio.

The Seniors of Warren High School present the play "The Path Across The Hill" at Glover hall on the evening of Jan. 27. The ten members of the cast are being coached by Principal Froberger and assistant Miss Norwood.

"Unsearchable Riches" is the theme from which Rev. H. M. Purinton will speak next Sunday morning at the Baptist Church. Deacon F. H. Wyllie will be the four minute speaker. The topic for the evening service is "The Three Questions, That Are One Question." It is

A Raw, Sore Throat

Quickly when you apply a little Musterole. It penetrates to the sore spot with a gentle tingle, loosens the congestion and draws out the soreness and pain and won't blister like the old-fashioned mustard plaster.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment made with oil of mustard. Brings quick relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds on the chest.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole. Jars & Tubes

MUSTEROLE

The boys' and girls' basketball teams will play Lincoln Academy at Newcastle Friday night. Autos will convey the players.

The program of the Ladies' Circle at their meeting Tuesday evening was a drawing card. Aunt Jerusha's Album after a long time out of public notice produced under the management of Miss Frances Shaw, was a real success. The different characters were well made up and very effective. The living automobile as presented by Mrs. H. S. Kilburn made a good hit and furnished much amusement.

James E. Mitchell who died very unexpectedly Monday was a comparative stranger here. The family had occupied a house on Elliot street only about six weeks. A severe cold with cough was the apparent cause of his sudden death. The widow and three daughters survive him. The remains were taken to South China for interment.

Many expressions of regret are being heard at the death of Mrs. Karl Stetson. A long and painful illness has here to be in life and at the age of 22 years has passed out. A husband and two young children of the family are left.

Sunday services at the Methodist Church, J. L. Pinkerton, pastor: Morning worship at 10:30. Good music. Sunday school at 12 m.; Epworth League service at 6 o'clock; praise and preaching service at 7 o'clock; the special services at the Baptist Church next week the prayer meeting will be omitted.

The Epworth League will have a cooked food sale at Levi Saeve's store Jan. 23, beginning at 10 o'clock.

Mrs. Levi Saeve delightfully entertained on Tuesday afternoon at her attractive home on Gleason street in honor of Miss Hortense Wilson. At 5 o'clock refreshments were served and an exquisite birthday cake surmounted by "12" candles was cut by the guest of honor who also received many beautiful gifts together with hosts of good wishes for many happy returns of the day.

The Tax Collector will be in the Selectmen's office every Tuesday evening, 6 to 9—adv. 6-1f

ORFF'S CORNER

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Elwell and children visited relatives in Thomaston Sunday.

W. A. Jackson and Kenneth Elwell have recently had electric pumps installed.

The mid-week prayer meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Laura Leonard Thursday evening with a good attendance.

There was a large audience at the entertainment given at the Community House Wednesday evening. The program consisted of recitations by the schoolchildren under the direction of the teacher and music and readings by the older folks.

Readings by Miss Emery were especially debated took place. Mr. Duncan and Mr. Bragg on the affirmative and Mr. Brown and Mr. Ludwig on the negative. The question, "Resolved, that the State is able to keep the highways free from snow," proved a popular one, several of the ladies taking part in the discussion. After refreshments a social hour was enjoyed. A supper will be held Jan. 25.

INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT

Central Maine Engineer Named As Maine Member Power Committee

R. D. Morrison, industrial engineer for the Central Maine Power Company, has been appointed the Maine member of the industrial development subcommittee which is to work in conjunction with the co-operative power committee of the New England Council toward fostering industrial development throughout New England. The committee consists of one member from each state in New England.

The various power companies in the State are allied in this work and already considerable work along industrial promotion lines, not only in retaining industrial plants now located in Maine, but in attracting new industries within the State has been accomplished. An industrial survey throughout Maine will soon be conducted with a view toward learning what industries can best be attracted to certain localities.

Electric service companies are in a position to take the lead in their communities in this important work and can well afford it, since the electric companies are dependent upon the prosperity of the communities for their own development.

Care of Babies

Why do so many, many babies of today escape all the little fretful spells and infantile ailments that used to worry mothers through the day, and keep them up half the night?

If you don't know the answer, you haven't discovered pure, harmless Castoria. It is sweet to the taste, and sweet in the little stomach. And its gentle influence seems felt all through the tiny system. Not even a distasteful dose of castor oil does so much good. And it is so pleasant to take. Taste it yourself, and you'll know why "Children Cry for It."

Fletcher's Castoria is purely vegetable, so you may give it freely, at first sign of colic, or when you even suspect the approach of constipation, or diarrhea. Or those many times when you just don't know what the matter is. For real sickness, call the doctor, always. At other times, a few drops of Fletcher's Castoria. See how quickly all fretfulness or wakefulness will cease!

Only one word of warning: the above advice is true of genuine

SOUTH WALDOBORO

Charles Oliver has purchased a Ford truck.

Miss Beulah Winchenbach entertained 16 of her young friends Jan. 13 in honor of her 16th birthday. Games were played and refreshments served. Miss Beulah received some very nice gifts. Among those present were Francis Oliver, Lawrence Oliver, the Pitcher twins, Pauline Winchenbach, Anna Flanders, Floyd Delano, Aubrey Palmer, Sherman Vannah, Margaret, Ruth, Myron and Madeline Benner, Virginia Simmons and Sidney Simmons.

Nellie Wallace is at home from the State Street Hospital.

Much interest is manifest in the local Sunday School. Since the New Year came in a contest has been called the Red and Blue contest. It started with a membership of about 25 and owing to the earnest work of the two captains, Oliver Burns and Evelyn Winchenbach, over 40 are now enrolled. Miss Winchenbach, Reds, are leading with the largest number. At the end of three months, the captain whose side numbers the least will provide a supper for the winners.

IN SOCIETY

In addition to personal notes recording deaths and arrivals, this department especially desires information of social happenings, parties, musicale, etc. Notes sent by mail or telephone will be gladly received.

Linwood T. Rogers of this city has been made president of his fraternity, Iota Tau Sigma, at Kirtlandville School of Osteopathy. This is Mr. Rogers' senior year and his record at the great Missouri school has been one of achievement, not alone in the field of study and clinic, but in athletics and social honors as well. He was recently made president of the Senior class numbering over 200. Following his graduation in June Dr. Rogers will locate in this city.

Mrs. Alden Ulmer who has been the guest of her cousin in North Sagu, Mass., and of her son in Arlington, Mass., has arrived home. She has recovered from the severe cold which she contracted while away.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Black of Limerick were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stevens and of other friends in this city last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Melvin entertained a number of their friends, at their home on Warren street Thursday evening. The time was devoted to playing auction bridge. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Black of Limerick were honor guests. Refreshments were served.

Miss Etta Mitchell underwent an appendicitis operation at Knox Hospital this week and is reported as resting comfortably.

Mrs. David N. Mortland and Mrs. Elmer S. Bird have arrived for an extended visit in St. Petersburg and are guests at the St. Petersburg hotel.

The program for the next Harmony Club meeting, which will be on Jan. 25, will be in charge of Mrs. Leah Davis of Thomaston instead of Mrs. Lillian Joyce. Mrs. Joyce having recently resigned from the club.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Bird leave tomorrow for Boston where they will join friends Saturday enroute to the Cannery Convention which meets in Chicago the week of Jan. 23. On their return Mrs. Bird will make a visit in Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Fales went to Portland today where they will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. Mortimer Barney, State street.

Mrs. Frank A. Tirrell, Jr., leaves Knox Hospital today after undergoing surgical treatment. She will be cared for in her home by Mrs. Frank Tirrell of Quincy, Mass., who arrived yesterday.

The Chapin Class supper at the Universalist vestry Tuesday evening had an attendance of about 50 members and guests, who expressed their approval of the bountiful and tasty menu provided under the supervision of Mrs. Stude Davis. The members had gone laden with articles of tinware prepared to give a tin shower for Miss Blanche Magee, but found Miss Magee among the missing. It was a "hard struggle" to convince her that it was absolutely necessary for her to attend the business meeting which followed the supper, as she had made other plans for the evening but the concerted attempts of several of the members finally brought her to the vestry where she was happily surprised by the thought of her friends. Miss Magee's engagement to Ralph Calderwood is one of the interesting social announcements of the New Year.

B. C. Perry and daughter, Miss Alfreda Perry, went by auto yesterday to Portland and continued their trip by rail enroute to Portsmouth, Va., to visit Mr. and Mrs. Russell Mero.

Rev. Benjamin P. Browne went to Bangor today to spend a few days with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. B. R. Browne.

Miss Mary Dussey of Boston has arrived to spend the winter with her sister, Mrs. Grover Knight, Broadway.

The auction party at the Copper Kettle Porch Tuesday afternoon under the auspices of the Itoevik Club, was very successful, over $35 being netted for the treasury to be devoted to local charity. There were 15 tables, honors falling to Mrs. H. Keyes, Mrs. G. M. Simmons, Mrs. George W. Bachelder, Mrs. L. F. Chase, Mrs. Elizabeth Cracker, Mrs. Gilbert Baker, Mrs. Walter H. Spear, Mrs. Lester Sherman, Mrs. R. S. Sherman, Mrs. Anne Haskell, Mrs. Conrad Berge, Mrs. Harry French, Mrs. McKinney, Mrs. W. C. Bird and Mrs. L. B. Cook.

Robert McCarty has returned to St. Joseph's College to resume his studies.

Mrs. Frederick Powers and two children are spending a few days in Lewiston, guests of Mrs. Powers' mother, Mrs. Gladys Griffin.

One more Fuller-Cobb-Davis social success has gone down into history—the Nine Cent Dance which was held in Temple hall last night. It was attended by a capacity house, everyone present pronouncing it one of the best times yet. The hall was decorated in a color scheme of yellow. The nine cent idea was carried out in the price of the tickets, checking and refreshments. Prizes of handsome brushes were presented to the hostesses. The following committees were in charge: Mrs. Gladys Hall, Mrs. Carl Nelson, Miss Lillian Fife, and Mrs. Alice Kallio, ladies checking room; Carl Nelson and Carl Dyer, men's checking room; Mrs. Edith Bachelder, Miss Harriet Rankin, Mrs. Gladys Prescott, and Miss Frances Bachelder, refreshments; Bert Bachelder, sale of tickets; George Ryan, ticket taker. The proceeds will be close to $100 which in accord with the annual custom, will be devoted to local charity.

Marguerite Chapter, O. E. S., held its annual installation Monday evening. Masonic hall was filled with members and guests, who enjoyed the impressive ceremonies. Mrs. Elizabeth Libby of Rockport was installing officer assisted by Miss Blanch Hamilton as marshal and Mrs. George Roberts as chaplain. The new officers are: Worthy Matron, Beulah Drew; worthy patron, Edgar Bradstreet; associate matron, Marie Teel; conductress, Hilma Webster; associate conductress, Edith Smith; secretary, Mary L. Arcey; treasurer, Lena Davidson; chaplain, Nellie Wilson; pianist, Agnes Smalley; Adah, Elizabeth Ross; Ruth, Ruth Ross; Esther, Eleanor Lewis; Martha, Madeline Smith; Electa, Lillian Ross; marshal, Maude Coombs; warder, Christina Christie; sentinel, E. A. Smalley. The flower girls were Ruth Lyford, Dorothy Conway, Corinne Greenleaf, Lois Webster, Miriam Greenleaf. The ceremonies were interspersed with selections by Lane's Orchestra; reading, Cora Peterson; vocal solo, Blanch Hamilton; reading, Evelyn Manson. Worthy Matron, Beulah Drew, in behalf of Marguerite Chapter, presented the installing officer, Elizabeth Libby, a handsome gift, in appreciation of the excellent manner in which her work was done to which she very happily responded. Mrs. Libby is no stranger to the members of Marguerite Chapter, having made four visits here, two for inspection and two for installation, and her visits are always looked forward to with pleasure. Lane's Orchestra furnished music for dancing. Mrs. Libby was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Smalley.

OSCAR BLUNT

Oscar Blunt who died Tuesday was born in Union Aug. 25, 1842. He belonged to one of the oldest families in New England, his ancestors having come to this country in 1623. His boyhood was spent in Union, until the Civil War, at the close of which he went to North Brownville to live with his parents.

He received his first military training at Camp Keyes, Augusta, enlisting twice. For two years he saw service with Company B, 24th Maine Infantry. The second enlistment was in the 7th Maine Battalion, Light Ar-tilery, where he served until the close of the war. He was in the last great fight at Petersburg and Richmond, Va.

He served P. Henry Tilson Post, G. A. R. of Thomaston as commander three times and was elected commander of Edwin Libby Post of Rockland three times, serving twice. He was a member of Vinalhaven Lodge of Odd Fellows for 49 years. For over 20 years he was an officer at the Maine State Prison, serving under five wardens.

Sixty-two years ago last August he married Mary Eliza Hayden of South Thomaston, who survives him, together with one grandson, Oscar John Hodgkins of Portland; two nieces, Ida and Myra Blunt of Thomaston; and two nephews, Urban Sumner of Brownville and Frank Blunt who is located in Cuba.

Funeral will be held today with Odd Fellow services, and burial in South Thomaston.

A Human Rainbow Arrives—Our Sympathy For Italy Not Needed, Says Daniels—Story of Ulysses and Circe.

(Fourteenth Letter)

Naples, Italy.
Here we are in Naples again, on the 22d day of December, and have "met up" with one of the three shortest days of the year. We are in the latitude of New York, with the climate of Jacksonville. Why that is so I do not know, but it is, nevertheless, and we can't blame it on the old Gulf Stream, as they do everything along the Atlantic coast in North America. The sun gets up right here about 7 a. m. and starts to bed about 4 p. m. From now on, the days lengthen.

From America early this week came the big passenger liner Conte Rosso, with the Christmas mail and many natives returning for the holidays. And today came the great liner Roma, a fast, 40,000-ton ship, direct from New York, with more Christmas mail and many normal passengers. However, we find now at the hotel, that there was also aboard the ship a small, rare, but choice collection of "boobers," as the Germans call them.

Where these people came from is a mystery. One of them stood in front of the hotel this afternoon, looking out over the Bay of Naples, with Capri and the vast Mediterranean Sea stretched off in the distance, and watching dozens of ships from all the ports of the Far East, the Suez, and Europe, coming and going, and after a moment, made this brilliant remark: "Why, Naples must be a seaport, isn't it?" I had a mind to reply in the negative and state that we were inland several miles. He would have believed it.

These people know they are in Italy, but they do not know whether Italy is located in Africa, Australia, Arabia or Tibet. They have no idea. They know there is such a place as Athens, but whether it is in Spain, or Egypt, or what happened there, or what makes it famous, is all past their knowledge. You folks at home should not envy these people, for they really have not the knowledge of the children in the Eighth Grade at the Rockland schools. Where they come from, where they get the thousands of dollars they spend, is a mystery. They get no thrill out of it, for to them the whole trip is just a matter of riding on trains and ships. Why do they do it, you ask. And the only answer I can give you is that they do it so that they may go home and boast that they have "towered Europe."

Three of them breezed into the dining room last night, off the Conte Rosso, from America. Most of the guests were in semi-evening dress. Not so these specimens. He had on an indigo blue stiff shirt, with a soft white collar, and a red tie that screamed. His suit had the loud checks of a circus barker. He did not look sporty or fresh, he just looked silly. Now imagine poor gray-haired mother sitting side of this rainbow. She, poor thing, had tried to be economical and she had dug deep in the old trunk before they left home and found a fine old black lace dress that had been in style 20 years ago, and rather than change the precious helpmop, she just puts it in the bag and brings it along to use for evening dress. There were three in the party. Number three was a tall, lean, lanky siren, with hair that looked like an exploded can of tomato soup. She had thin, set lips, steel gray eyes, hollow cheeks and chest, the shape of a beanpole and she was slathered fore and aft with pounds of makeup—especially the rouge and lipstick. She had evidently located Charlie and Mother on the ship and after looking Charlie over, had decided to attach herself to the party and use Charlie as the meat ticket for a few days.

The old boy was all smiles, and she was busy as a bee watching mother out of the corner of her eye while she tossed the apple to the Human Rainbow. However, she also had other plans for the waiters here are all young, handsome sheiks, none of them over 25 years old, and they are immaculate. Each looks as if he had just jumped out of a barber shop. Bricktop was not blind. She needed Charlie to pay the check, but as soon as he looked down at his plate to aim at and catch another piece of food, she would glance quickly away and give a "come-on" smile to the nearest good-looking waiter.

These waiters think too much of their jobs to be caught at that game—and they also know the difference between a real, classy queen when she gracefully swings into the dining room, and a can of tomato soup. She had no more chance than a quart of whiskey on an Indian reservation. Poor Mother sat quietly and ate, unhappy, uncomfortable, self-conscious, the only one of the three in "evening dress," the old black lace of 20 years ago.

The Mussolini government is calling in all the small paper money that was formerly used in this country. There were little bills, the size of cigar coupons, and in American money their value was 5c, 10c, 25c, 50c and $1. The paper they were made of was not very good, and it soon cracked and crumpled and became torn in the creases. Most of it was filthy because of its small value it continually changed hands in trade all day long. It is rather hot here for seven months of the year and the money became moist and sticky, carried in a wallet in the inside coat or vest pocket, where the natives tucked it away.

It was a carrier of disease germs, and filth. And so the present government, wise as in all things, has been issuing nickel and silver coins the same as we do in the United States, for all money up to one dollar. They have called in all this small paper money, and while many of the natives object to carrying the silver, it is for the best interests of health and sanitation that they do it—just as we do in the States. There are numerous regulations of this sort, affecting the life and customs of the native Neapolitan, and of course the older fellows want to keep on doing just as their grandfathers did. We occasionally run into some of that sentiment in Maine. But the new generation will be along here now in a few years (the Mussolini government is six years old), and the new generation is going to be prosperous and thrifty and right up to date, and don't let anyone over there try and convince you to the contrary. Italy has a great future. Could you see the merchant marine she is building, it would surprise you. Two more monster passenger ships, for the American trade, will be in service within a month—the Vulcania, the new fast giant of the Cosulich Line; and the Conte Grande, another new, fast giant of the Lloyd Sabaudo Line. The Italian Lines have many other fast ships plying between here and South America, large, beautiful passenger and mail ships, and the trade is much more extensive than we in America know anything about.

Not only that, but (and this is something we do not have in New York or Boston), you can purchase a ticket in New York for Milan, come over on a fast liner, land at Trieste, and the same ticket takes you by airplane to Milan as soon as you reach port. The airplanes are owned by the steamship lines.

I could not buy a ticket from here to Rockland, Maine, get off the ship at Boston, and have one of the company's airships deliver me in Rockland in three hours after I landed in Boston. But the Italians do it over here, all right, and do it every day.

They do not need our sympathy at all. There are many things that they do better than we do in the States. Their passenger liners are some of the finest that cross the Atlantic Ocean. There is no ship afloat that can touch the Conte Biancamano in the passenger trade.

The trouble with us in the States is that we get a wrong impression of this country, because we see mostly immigrants and very few of the better class of Italians. And that is true of most of the foreigners that come to the United States to live. The man who has built up a business here and is successful and has a family and lives well, has no reason to pull up stakes and go to the United States. No more would a successful American pull up and go to some foreign country and start all over again. Most of the foreigners we see are those who couldn't get along over here—or, whose parents before them couldn't. A well-educated, successful Italian is just as nice a chap as any American Harvard man you could ever wish to meet. They are not the type we see most of in the larger cities.

After getting Ulysses safely back to his wife Penelope, last week, it would seem an act of kindness to leave him happy in his home, but this is a hard old world, and Ulysses had to pass on and so, to get a record of his finish we have had to look up a little of the private home life of Circe, the enchantress.

While Ulysses was on the 20-year trip of adventure, trying to reach home, he was also stranded, with his sailors, on the Island of Aea, just south of here, near Sicily. If Homer hadn't consistently shipwrecked his hero, it is doubtful if he would have met with his many unusual adventures. Anyway, Ulysses and his sailors are now on the Island of Aea, and there they find Circe the enchantress. Circe was also the wife of a king, but she didn't like the old chap, and so she poisoned him. Nothing original in that. But, when the people saw the dead king, they turned on Circe, and she had to flee for her life. And so she took much money and flew on feed to the Island of Aea. Here she built many palaces and filled them with beautiful works of art, so the story goes, and the tables were of silver and gold, and the porters must have had a fine time moving around the solid gold tables when they wanted to sweep or use the vacuum cleaner.

While here, she learned the art of making home brew. Just as we do in America today in many homes—only her home brew put the drinker under a spell. I don't mean by this that he was stoned. He was spell-bound, for she was an enchantress, and the home brew was doped in some mysterious way so that after they drank it, she simply wished that they become animals instead of men, and, as she was fond of pork chops, she turned most of them into pigs. While this was going on she was protected by many lions and tigers who frolicked around her gardens like kittens, for she had them full of the home brew and they were harmless.

Now we are all ready for the arrival of Ulysses and his sailors on the island occupied by the enchantress—and so we shipwreck Ulysses and land the ship there. The sailors go ashore and she sees them and immediately invites them to have a glass of home brew, and they immediately become pigs—all but one. He escapes, and runs back to the ship to tell Ulysses. Ulysses was wise to all these things that were to happen to him, and in this case we find that his friend, Mercury, the God of Commerce, (no relation to Hoover) had warned him of this vampire, this enchantress, and told him of the home brew served, and had given to him some herbs, which, when put into the drinks, rendered them harmless. Now Ulysses can go ashore and foil the vampire. She poured out the drink. He slipped the magic herbs. She waited for him to become a pig. He didn't do it. Drawing his sword, he commanded her to turn the pig sailors back into men. Fearing him, she did as commanded.

A son and daughter are born to Circe. And time again goes on. And the son grows up. He goes to war and he fights against Ulysses and kills him, not knowing the relationship. And that is retribution.

The daughter of the enchantress falls in love with the real legitimate son of Penelope and Ulysses, called Telemachus. And they marry—the real son of Ulysses and the daughter of Circe and Ulysses—and Circe tries to rule the household, and she makes herself very disagreeable as a mother-in-law, and the boy stands it as long as he can, and, to cut the agony, his patience ends, and he kills Circe, his wife's mother, his mother-in-law, and the sweetheart of his father. And that ends that.

H. A. Daniels.
